Advice from Chestnut Nursery

Blooms make us smile

Well I think you will all agree, what a strange growing season it's been. A tremendously early start back in March and April followed by a mediocre May and June, and then into a sweltering August. Those of you that ordered summer bedding from us during 'lockdown' have reported stunning results and impressive blooms still flourishing even now. That's because our plants are grown with love and attention by our trustee volunteers.

When you admire your plants from us, just remember how much solace and healing a volunteer has received by raising those plants for you. It means a great deal to all here, that our hard work be met with such appreciation.

There is still so much to offer on the nursery at the moment. Autumn and winter bedding is bristling with colour. The shrubs are calling out to be planted and herbaceous perennials still have plenty of blooms to admire. It's the perfect time of year to establish plants ready for winter and we have a great selection of colourful winter evergreens.

We have a splendid array of house plants in the shop as well as all manner of gardening and plant related necessities and sundries. We know times are tough but we are here with our excellent value produce and we have many great offers across our range. Brighten up your day and pay us a visit, growing blooms and bringing smiles, that's what we do.
